ROOSEVELT DISAPPEARS

DISCUSSION OF PEACE

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt made the following statement tonight on President Wilson's response to the German peace proposal:

"Four days ago, and again and again prior to that time, I said this war ought to be fought through until we secured the unconditional surrender of Germany and her vassal allies—Austria and Turkey. To this statement I unqualifiedly adhere. I fear that the president's latest announcement will be treated as an invitation to further note writing."

"The effort to fight and to negotiate at the same time apt to damage the fighting end of the combination. Personally, I believe that our sole aim should be to win the war and not to discuss peace terms with the enemy until the war has been won."

EXPLOSION IN CHEMICAL PLANT AT HEIDELBERG, PA.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 9.—The fusion building of the Aetna Chemical company works at Heidelberg, near here, was destroyed tonight by an explosion of several benzol tanks. Officials of the company announced that no one had been killed or injured.

Fire which followed the explosion destroyed the wreckage of the building. For a time the flames threatened the T. N. T. works, but fire departments from surrounding boroughs brought the fire under control before it reached adjoining sections of the plant.

The cause of the explosion has not been determined.

WEDDING.

Griffin-Brewer.

At the Second Baptist church, Quaker Hill, Wednesday at noon, Alice Louise, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Griffin, of Norwich, and Miss George Griffin, of New London, were united in marriage, by Rev. Donnell Fletcher, the Episcopal minister of service being used.

The church decorations were very effective, consisting of brilliant autumn foliage and flowers, artistically arranged around the American flag and the flags of the allies. Speeches, hymns, music and a beautiful combination of coloring. At the end of each aisle, there were columns round with autumn leaves and flowers.

As the bride's father, Mr. William M. Griffin, was played by Mrs. William M. Griffin, and preceded by two bridesmaids, Misses Mary and Thomas Woodworth of Quaker Hill, the bride's attendants, Miss Ruby E. Vaughn of Norwich and Mrs. Harry E. Hanks of Hartford, and the matron of honor, Mrs. Charles S. Griffin, of Norwich, the bride, accompanied by her father, walked down the center aisle, and were joined at the altar by the groom and his best man, H. F. Houghton, of Worcester.

The bride's exquisite frock was of ivory satin, with court train and was trimmed with seed pearls. She wore a tulle veil, Parisian cut effect, caught with a diamond brooch, and carried a shower bouquet of roses.

The maid of honor was handsomely dressed in sea-foam blue Georgette crepe with hand embroidery over ivory tulle and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

The bride's bridesmaids wore pink and white dresses, and carried bouquets of pink and white flowers.

The gift of the groom to the bride was a platinum lavallier, set with aqua marines and diamonds, and those to the ushers were gold scarves.

The bride gave her matron of honor a gold chain and pendant set with pearls, and her bridesmaids, lovely tulle and lace brooches. She presented the groom a diamond and aqua marine scarf pin of platinum.

After the wedding ceremony an informal reception for a few intimate friends was held at Dr. Griffin's summer home in Best View, Quaker Hill. Guests were present from Middletown, Worcester, Boston, New York city and other places.

Decorations consisted of autumn foliage and flowers, artistically combined with pink roses. There were very beautiful wedding presents.

Mrs. and Mr. Griffin left by motor for a short wedding trip, after which they will reside at Knoll Top, Best View, being home to their friends after January 14th.

YOUNG SAILOR DIES

AT NAVAL HOSPITAL

The death of Edward Francis Snigel, formerly of Greenville, occurred at the naval hospital in New London following influenza. The boy was brought to the home of his parents on the Canterbury turnpike on Wednesday afternoon in a drunken state. Mr. Snigel was 21 years of age, and Mrs. Stanislaus Snigel was twenty years of age. He was employed at the J. B. Martin company up to the time of his death. He was about a year ago. He leaves his parents and a brother and sister.

SALSBURY IS GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

Attorney Hadal A. Hull and Assistant Warren B. Burrows, who came out of the room all four lawyers looked as if they had reached a decision that lifted a load from their minds.

Judge Case immediately took his place on the bench and State's Attorney Hull informed him that the prisoner was now ready to change his plea, if allowed to do so, and would plead guilty to murder in the second degree. This was on advice of his counsel and with his own consent. Major Hull said he felt it his duty to recommend that Salsbury be allowed to do this.

Judge Case at once had Salsbury brought from the pen and put to bed, imposing the sentence immediately afterwards. Salsbury did not seem to be affected by the shift that brought the trial to an end.

At the opening of the morning session at the time though there promised to be more later as a number of people had counted on attending the execution of hearing Mayor Desmond address the jury in his argument for Salsbury.

The jury was dismissed with the cordial thanks of the court.

At the opening of the morning session of court the attorney prepared the jury for a trip to the scene of the shooting at Salsbury's home in Preston by showing them on the plan in the court room the points which would be shown to them. Then the jury in an autobus with a sheriff and Judge Case, the attorneys and Salsbury went to the scene of the crime.

The party was back a little after noon and the court session was opened with the attorneys for Salsbury calling Coroner Franklin H. Brown to the stand. Through him the lawyers for the accused tried to introduce evidence in a statement that Herman Chapman had made to the coroner when it was thought Chapman could not live. Chapman did not die until some time after the date of the statement, and the state attorneys objected to its admission on the grounds that it was not a dying statement. The court sustained the objection.

It is foreseen that the state attorneys' statement said that Kinney was the man who called Salsbury "bald-headed, perched on a high chair," and made other threats.

Attorney Desmond told the judge that he had other witnesses who had been delayed and Major Hull said he had some evidence in rebuttal to the state's case. The jury was not completed in the afternoon, and the morning session adjourned at 12:30 until 2 p. m.

WARD ALLING DESCRIBES CAMP HANCOCK LIFE

Ward T. Alling, son of W. S. Alling of 124 Washington street, who is in Camp Zachary Taylor at Lexington, Ky., studying in the officers' training school, writes that every minute at the camp is filled full of study or practice. It is a case of constant intense study and they even have to run between classes.

The letter is in part as follows: "The Spanish influenza has broken out in camp and there are said to be great many cases in the base hospital."

We are waiting now for the medical inspector to grant us leave to go to the base hospital to see the influenza cases. We are waiting for the medical inspector to grant us leave to go to the base hospital to see the influenza cases.

After making several real estate and cash bequests, the will provides that the executors shall reduce the balance of the estate to a residue fund from which 10 per cent. shall be given to Norwich charities.

These charities will be such as Mr. Davidson shall designate as he shall decide the amounts to be given to each.

It is provided that each charitable organization so designated for a bequest shall raise an equal amount and pay it to the executor within one month after the date of the will.

Real estate at corner of West Main and High streets to East Davidson, in trust for the testator's daughter, Mrs. Annie Goldfarb, until her 35th birthday, then to her absolutely, or to be continued for her heirs in event of her death before 35.

Real estate at 182-172 Main street, Worcester, and on Southbridge street, Worcester, to Barnet Davidson in trust for the benefit of Rosie Davidson, an only daughter, under the same conditions.

Real estate consisting of four houses and land at Bath Beach, Brooklyn, N. Y., to be divided in trust for these two daughters until the younger of them reaches 35.

To his wife, Ida Gordon, $5,000 and all household goods, furniture and jewelry to belong to her forever, said gift to be in lieu of the marriage contract and only to be hers in case she forfeits her rights under said contract.

To S. Kadishewitz of Brooklyn, N. Y., $500 or to his heirs, in case of his death before the death of the testator.

To each of the children of Bessie Minnie Davidson and of Blume Gottson of Worcester, sisters of the testator, $150.

To each of these two sisters, $200.

After the charitable bequests have been taken from the residue fund, the sum of $20,000 is to be held in trust by Executor Davidson for the benefit of Ida Gordon, the testator's wife, as long as she remains unmarried.

Upon her death or marriage, the $20,000 becomes part of the trust created for the two daughters, and any balance of the residue also goes to the daughters.

Mr. Gordon's will charges the executors to see that his father, Max Gordon, receives his regular income from the stock of the Max Gordon & Son corporation, and if this should not equal $500 the executor is to make up to that amount, and also see that Max Gordon has sufficient income in case at any time $500 proves too small to provide for his wants.
